

FOURTH: Getting the Young Person Involved in a Pro-Life Ministry

As was said in the introduction, when young people enter into the high school years, and then into college, unless they are well grounded in pro-life principles they are much more likely to be influenced towards a pro-abortion worldview. At the least they will not be in a good position to challenge the pro-abortion worldview and at the worst they will leave school with a pro-abortion worldview.

One excellent way to develop committed pro-life young people is to get them involved. There are several different groups that teach, equip, challenge and activate young people. If a young person has made mistakes there are groups to help with forgiveness as well as helping them through any current problems.
